Daily Participants Welcome (space available basis)

Stories retold with commentary focusing on Jungian psychology highlight many of the classes. DVD clips from multiple productions frequently included.

Week one: Wagner’s Ring Cycle

Highlights from these famous four operas with an emphasis on Siegfried will be celebrated. DVD excerpts from multiple productions included. The commentary will highlight how this mythic musical drama illuminates core understandings of Jungian Psychology.

Week two: St. Paul Goes to Lystra

(3 classes: Mon. - Wed.)

The Greek myth associated with the ancient city of Lystra will be retold followed by the biblical account of St. Paul’s first missionary journey to that city. The focus will be on the early confrontation between the people who sacrificed to the Olympian gods and Paul’s preaching about the creator God whom he worshiped. Slides of ancient paintings included.

Week three: Gilgamesh

The world’s oldest recorded story will be retold along with the fascinating account of its modern discovery in the form of 11 clay tablets. As the great poet Rilke said, “Gilgamesh is stupendous; I consider it ‘to be among the greatest things that can happen to a person.’”

Week four: Living Your Unlived Life

The meaningful aging process requires that one confronts the psychological work that is yet to be done and finding appropriate ways of manifesting one’s previous unlived life in the mature years. This is a class in Jungian psychology.

Week five: Cinema and Psycho

The most successful films speak to the archetypal nature of being human. Selected excerpts from recent and some not so recent films included, most notably the only film referred to by Jung. What are some of the characters’ unconscious issues brought forth in the films?

Week six: Virgin Mary in Western Art

The historical overview of images of Mary will be coupled with commentary on both the art and the stories the art interprets. The focus will be on the conception of Mary, her childhood, her betrothal, the annunciation and the nativity. Sources for the commentary include both biblical and apocryphal writings.

Week seven: Freud and Jung

Once very close colleagues, the dramatic split in their friendship resulted in a further development of the understanding of the human psyche. The story of this historic relationship will be recounted along with commentary on their contributions to our understanding of the human condition, including dreams, DVD excerpts from multiple documentaries and other films included.

Week eight:

Van Gogh: His Life and Work

Yes, the artist did cut off his ear in a state of madness! Come to know this genius and his paintings more fully through the retelling of stories of his life and commentary on his art.

Week nine: Odysseus: A Hero’s Encounter with the Feminine

Hear stories with commentary on excerpts from Homer’s epic of the extraordinary relationship between Odysseus and both goddesses and mortal women during his ten-year journey to return to Ithaca after the Trojan War. Studied from the point of view of Jungian psychology, each episode will be looked at metaphorically as a reflection of our own journeys toward psychological wholeness. Famous painting included.

ARTS ADVOCACY

SPOTLIGHT
The 2019 opera season celebrates the 90th anniversary of the Chautauqua Opera Company and of Norton Hall. As we celebrate this significant anniversary, we're continuing a number of initiatives that support the exciting season the company has planned. One of those initiatives is our continuing support of the Chautauqua Opera Young Artist Program and the wonderful artists who make each season so vibrant. This support takes many forms — from OPERA America memberships to cast parties — but the core of this initiative is the Adopt-an-Artist Program. By matching each Young Artist with an "adopted" host family for the summer, Guild members have the opportunity to enhance their opera experience by getting to know these talented singers on a more personal level. Another major focus is spreading the love of opera to the youngest members of the Chautauqua community through our Opera Education initiative. This includes weekly interactive presentations at the Children's School, Special Studies classes that take teens behind the scenes and support of the Opera Company's Opera Invasion Tour, which will reach over 4,500 students in Chautauqua County this June. We hope you will join us this summer in supporting opera at Chautauqua!

Suzanne Shull, president

MISSION
The purpose of the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra League (CSOL) is to provide opportunities for the audience and CSO musicians to interact on a personal level. Our desire is to encourage deeper understanding of the role of classical music in our lives and the commitment of the symphony musicians who make that happen.

SPOTLIGHT
The CSO has been generously supported by Chautauqua audiences for 90 years. Its performances are known for generating energy and excitement. The orchestra's history, longevity and vitality are legendary. This summer, we welcome back to the podium the CSO's ninth music director, Rossen Milanov. As a member of the CSO League, you'll have unique opportunities to meet and speak with CSO musicians at League events. These include an annual members picnic and open rehearsal at Lenna Hall. Several other events will be held at the Amphitheater and Smith Wilkes Hall. In addition to your membership you can help us meet our goal of promoting the health of the CSO by directing your charitable donations for the orchestra to Chautauqua Institution. This benefits the orchestra and, in a real sense, records your commitment to keep up the legacy of an outstanding orchestra at Chautauqua. The number of people who give is as important as the amount given.

MISSION
VACI Partners is a member-driven organization with a mission to promote awareness, education, appreciation and excellence in the visual arts at Chautauqua Institution. The Partners support the Strohl and Fowler-Kellogg Art Centers, the Melvin Johnson Sculpture Garden and the Chautauqua School of Art. VACI Partners encourages an appreciation for all forms of art-making, by both professionals and amateurs. Funds raised from our activities provide scholarships for students at the Chautauqua School of Art.

SPOTLIGHT

These have traditionally included art fairs, lectures, exhibition openings and fundraising activities. Memberships may be purchased at Strohl Art Center for $35 (Basic) or $125 (Collector). There are many benefits to joining VACI Partners, including: option to participate in an exhibition entitled “Patterns and Repetitions, New Abstract Works by VACI Partners Members” (additional $25 installation fee), invitations to attend member-only lectures and workshops, and private preview access to opening exhibitions.

SPOTLIGHT
For nearly 130 years, the Chautauqua Women’s Club has enjoyed a long, proud and vital history as an integral part of Chautauqua Institution and your Chautauqua experience. Scholarships and programming are our key focus areas of the Chautauqua Women’s Club. Our Contemporary Issues Forum, held at 2 p.m. each Saturday in the Hall of Philosophy, remains our cornerstone lecture series. This series, along with numerous fundraisers, seasonal special events, recreational opportunities and the operation of our Flea Boutique, continue as the highlights of our annual summer activities designed to support our mission. Since 1977, the Women’s Club has been dedicated to supporting student scholarships at Chautauqua. Our scholarship program allows deserving students the opportunity to continue their journey of perfecting their crafts in the Schools of Performing and Visual Arts. During the 2018 season, we provided $75,000 in scholarship assistance; this was added to the total of more than $1.5 million over the last 33 years.
