A Message From Amy Gardner

Dear Friends,

2024 marked our 150th anniversary, a momentous celebration of Chautauqua's transformation from an idea before its time, to a movement, and then to the Institution and deeply seated American tradition it is today. We are conveners, thought leaders, explorers, and champions of the arts. We cherish and respect the land and waters Chautauqua was founded upon and will flourish for the next 150 years.

This special, incomparable year was filled with successes including an astonishing array of ground-breaking events, year-round activities, performances, new partnerships and raised awareness, garnering some of the largest attendances for our Summer Assembly weeks. As you will see on these pages, we experienced an outpouring of generosity from our Chautauqua community — longtime donors, newer supporters, and first-time givers — who share our vision for how we can grow and thrive in the future.

Unprecedented individual generosity, elevated foundation support and new strategic partnerships contributed to one of the most successful fundraising years in the Institution's history. With more than $37 million raised in 2024, the Boundless campaign surpassed $143 million by year-end, just $7 million shy of our overall goal of $150 million. Our endowment stands at a record high. These fitting milestones have been and will continue to be transformative in bringing Chautauqua Institution's life-changing programming to ever-widening audiences.

As I write to you for the first time, I am inspired and deeply grateful to see your gifts at work, or as we say, "in action," throughout the grounds — revitalizing our spaces, energizing new program development, nurturing creativity as well as understanding and thoughtful dialogue, building new avenues of educational and community engagement, and ensuring the stewardship of our beautiful grounds.

We share your love of this place, this mission, and this community. This annual publication is just one of the tangible ways we recognize and sincerely thank our swelling ranks of donors. Our true measure of appreciation remains as boundless as the vision for Chautauqua's future and your abiding trust in our tireless and heartfelt efforts.

Together we will ring in the next 150 years steadfast in our mission and embracing the boundless opportunities ahead. Thank you.

With appreciation and gratitude,

Senior Vice President & Chief Advancement Officer

“Art is what makes us human. Art gives us our humanity – if people can’t create any longer, we’re in trouble. That is why this new Roe Green Theater Center, this wellspring of creativity is so important to me and for the many generations of Chautauquans to come. I am excited to see this vision become a reality.”

“Where else can you go and immerse yourself in the arts, lifelong learning, athletic endeavors, spirited discussions with people who may not think like you think or believe what you believe, and do all of this with respect and acceptance? The founders of Chautauqua laid a strong foundation of love and understanding. It behooves each of us privileged enough to experience this amazing institution to do our part to secure its legacy.”

“This past summer was among the most fulfilling and enriching in my memory of 27 years working at the Institution, and philanthropy was at the heart of what we were able to do.

Chautauqua’s growing impact on the global stage requires that we present world-class programs and offerings throughout the four pillars of the Chautauqua experience. Whether those programs are performances, educational experiences, religious services or pure recreation, world-class is what people have come to expect, and it is what we deliver.

As might be expected, world-class is a capital-intensive endeavor, and Chautauqua is fortunate to have strong and growing support for all aspects of the Institution’s efforts. It is that support that allows us to reach farther, higher and deeper into our initiatives, and continue to broaden the Institution’s reach and impact both within and outside the gates.”

—Timothy Muffitt,
 Artistic Director,
 Music School Festival Orchestra

Our Lake — Our Natural Home

The beauty and health of Chautauqua Lake has endured the test of the ages, but its future depends on all of us today.

“Chautauqua has become our summer retreat from the big, bustling city of Houston and a source of intellectual stimulation and spiritual growth. We are delighted to hear of the success of the 150th anniversary Boundless Campaign and are excited about the plans that will help to strengthen and to sustain Chautauqua for the enjoyment of future generations. We are especially pleased to support the Chautauqua Climate Initiative with its goals of environmental education, carbon neutrality for the community, and the protection of Chautauqua Lake.”

—John and Judy Hartman

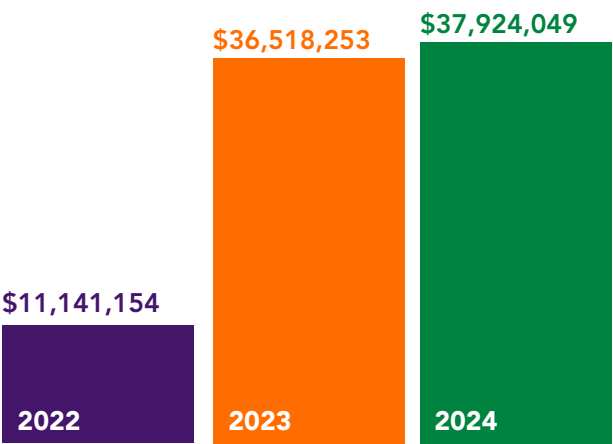

“My husband, John Logan, and I have been visiting Chautauqua for years. Chautauqua Lake, its natural surroundings and wildlife are part of the charm. We are pleased to support the health and wellness of the ecosystem and sustain the beauty for future generations at a time when we are celebrating 150 years in existence. We consider this an expression of our gratitude and our hope for the future.”

— Catherine Mott

Total Philanthropic Activity

In 2024, Chautauquans generously supported the Institution’s mission with more than $37 million in total philanthropy.

Includes outright gifts, pledges and planned gift commitments.

“Chautauqua’s mission commits us to exploring the best in human values and stimulating a thoughtful response to the important issues of our times. Stewardship of our natural world has long been an important value to Chautauquans — our patrons and visitors, our community partners, our denomination houses, and property owners. Today, thanks to the generosity of Chautauqua’s donors, we are able to permanently embed that value in the Institution, from our stewardship of Chautauqua Lake to our robust program of exploration of nature, environment and climate issues, to our work to make Chautauqua Institution a model of sustainable operations.”

Looking Ahead Toward Bright Artistic Futures

“Young artists face numerous challenges as they transition from academic environments to careers in their chosen fields. We believe Chautauqua offers an exceptional summer experience across music, voice, dance, theater and visual arts. Scholarships enable Chautauqua to attract the best talent from across the country. The renovation of Bellinger Hall, now Greene Family Commons, will further enhance Chautauqua’s ability to draw emerging artists and we believe our philanthropic support plays a crucial role in providing them with the opportunities they deserve.”

“Not only did Chautauqua mold me into a better dancer, but it made me a confident performer. The teachers and experiences provided are nothing short of a professional company, and after seven weeks of working together with the amazing staff and dancers, it feels as though my dancing is limitless.”

—Noa Dean,
 2024 Dance Student

“My experience as a student in the Chautauqua MSFO exceeded all of my expectations. Playing in the orchestra under Maestro Tim Muffitt was such an enlightening experience, and after every rehearsal, I found myself feeling inspired and excited for the next one. I am so incredibly fortunate to have had the opportunity to perform Wynton Marsalis’ All Rise. That performance became the standout moment of my time at Chautauqua, and I’m eager to take everything I’ve learned in the MSFO into the next chapter of my musical journey.”

—Adrian Jackson,
 2024 MSFO (principal viola, All Rise),
 2024-2025 Virginia Symphony Orchestra Fellow

“Chautauqua transformed my artistry, inspired me at every turn, and began a new period of growth. I am so grateful for my unforgettable summer at Chautauqua.”

—Claire Coven,
2024 Opera Conservatory Student

“In 2024, philanthropy catalyzed artistic innovation at Chautauqua and had a direct impact on hundreds of artists and students across all disciplines. MSFO scholarships afforded instrumental students the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to perform All Rise with Wynton Marsalis; Opera Guild philanthropy helped bring Hansel and Gretel and The Summer Place to life; Arts Education support sent our Teaching Artists into schools serving 3,000+ students; and funding for the Roe Green Theater Center ensured a state-of-the-art creative hub for Chautauqua Theater Company. These are just a few of countless examples proving that Chautauquans have a passionate and abiding love for the arts. There has never been a better time to be an artist at Chautauqua — and philanthropy is the rocket fuel taking our programs to new heights.”

—Laura Savia,
Vice President of Performing and Visual Arts

The Eleanor B. Daugherty Society celebrates those who have generously chosen to support Chautauqua's mission through charitable bequests, life-income gifts and trusts — providing, in perpetuity, for the programs they love by helping ensure Chautauqua's future.

“My affinity for both Chautauqua Institution and PBS could not have come together more impactfully than through the recently released Black Robin Media documentary ‘Chautauqua at 150: Wynton Marsalis’ All Rise.’ This exquisitely crafted project beautifully united artistic exploration and archival rediscovery to share the important Chautauqua story and Wynton Marsalis’ masterwork All Rise with the broadest possible audiences and new generations of Chautauquans. I am honored to have provided philanthropic support to this signature production in honor of Chautauqua’s 150th anniversary in 2024.”
